- 8) The Expense type should be customizable and should be easily maintainable.
- 9) The process improvements leading to enhanced operational efficiency (across functions) is a key thrust area.
- 10) Various formats of Reports should be generated from the software. The Reports should be dynamic in Nature. Below mentioned are some of the few predetermined reports.
  - a) Account Statement
  - b) Reports by Date
  - c) Expense Report
  - d) Report by Expense Type

B) TECHNICAL REQUIREMENT

- 1) The solution architecture should be built on sound architectural principles enabling fault-tolerance, high-performance and scalability both on the software and hardware levels and must be loosely coupled so as to integrate additional systems in future.

- 2) Solution architecture must support web services standards including XML, SOAP, UDDI and WSDL.
- 3) The system architecture should include adequate security covering management of identity, threat and vulnerability. The architecture should cover network, host, application and data security.
- 4) The design of backend Database should only be with PostgreSQL& if necessary on PostGIS Spatial Extension.
- 5) As the System would be accessed in Remote areas with dense Forest, offline option should be enabled to allow the officers to enter the Expense and then Sync to the Centralized Server once the Connectivity is established.
- 6) For Offline Mode Datagram packets concept should be used to implement a connectionless packet delivery service. Each message is routed from one machine to another, based solely on information contained within that packet.
- 7) The bidder should provide software environment in which the proposed solution is intended to be developed in the Technical Bid and also mention the compatible set of hardware to be put in place by the Purchaser to host the solution.

  - a) The rationale is that the front end load balancer will distribute load between the two physical hosts.
  - b) Each physical server has an Apache web server and two tomcat Servlet engines.
  - c) Apache will serve static content either from an NFS mounted disk or from a replicated file system using something like RepliWeb.
  - d) Apache will load balance between the two local tomcats but if these become overloaded or crash it can forward requests on to the other physical server.
  - e) Load balancing and Failover (Clustering Tomcat Servlet engines) should be taken into consideration.
- 11) Integration of Online and Offline Solution

This solution should be taken into consideration only if the network connectivity is not available. Once the Network is established data from the offline standalone server is transferred either manually by clicking the Sync Button, else can be auto transferred to the Centralized Server.

- a) Datagram packets are should be used to implement a connectionless packet delivery service.
  - b) Each message should be routed from one machine to another, based solely on information contained within that packet.
  - c) Keeping the diversified standalone system into consideration, it should be taken into consideration to assign a unique Identification code to each standalone Instance, which would be useful to validate data duplicity and incontineny.
  - d) Sync framework with bi-directional sync would use Unique Identifier (GUID) instead of auto-incremented integers.
  - e) Import and Export Functionality would be enabled to upload the standalone data into the main Web Server in Excel / CSV format.
- 12) Bulk Posting should be allowed in the form of Excel / CSV file upload and the accounting software should automatically take that into consideration.

C) GENERIC REQUIREMENT

- 1) Database Replication – Application driven database replication routines among servers located at different locations across the network for all identified data elements will be developed, for failsafe operation of the system in times of hardware failures like disk crashes and system outages.
- 2) Automated software packaging and deployment tool
- 3) “Garbage Cleaning” of unwanted data from backend database must be done automatically at periodic intervals as a back ground process or as an Invoked utility.
- 4) Failsafe restart and shutdown of any server any time without affecting other servers and network operations. Any crash of server machine should not bring down the rest of networks / servers operations. Failure of server must be detected automatically by build-in mechanisms.
- 5) Number of Logins from each client machine and Client ID with time period/stamping must be logged in.
- 6) Data entry in all fields will be validated for correctness. Once sufficient data is keyed in into any field the cursor should automatically be moved to the next editable field.
- 7) All entries into the system will be through user Input screen provided as part of the application software.
